We are now in 4th of July week and Saturday, Sunday and Monday have been beautiful summer days. The days have been warm enough so if one wants to lay out in the sun but also the nights have been cool enough for sleeping. Riding along the countryside now is liking riding (some places) through gardens of wild flowers. The daisies, Indian paint brush, and so many more flowers of this season. Frank had to go to Andover last evening and I went with him. On one stretch of road the clover was so thick one could smell them. I have a recipe for honey made with wild clover and old fashion roses. It really is quite good.

Saturday the Allens had a reunion at Evergreen Valley. We had hired the dining room and each family brought either a dessert or other dish and home baked beans, and coffee was furnished. The children young and old could use the swimming pool, game room, tennis courts and some went horseback riding or hiking. Saw a lot of friends as well as relatives. Keep Thou My Way, O Lord
Keep thou my way, O Lord;
Myself I cannot guide;
Nor dare I trust my erring steps
One moment from Thy side;
I cannot think aright
Unless inspired by Thee,
My heart would faint without thy aid,
Choose Thou my thoughts for me.

For every act of faith,
And every pure design,
For all of good my soul can know,
The glory, Lord, be Thine.
Free grace my pardon seals,
Thou' Thy atoning blood;
Free grace the full assurance brings
Of peace with Thee my God.

O speak, and I will hear,
Command, and I obey,
My willing feet with joy will haste
To run the heavenly way.
Keep Thou my wandering heart,
And bid it cease to roam;
O beat me safe o'er death's cold wave
To heaven, my blissful home.

BIDS FOR WILSON'S MILLS BRIDGE PROJECT OPENED IN AUGUSTA

The Maine Department of Transportation is planning replacement of Wilson's Mills Bridge and approaches in Lincoln Plantation. Bids on this project were opened Wednesday morning, July 1, in the Transportation building in Augusta.

This project calls for replacement of the bridge and short sections of Route 16 on either side of the Magalloway River just southwesterly of Azisobos Lake.

The existing three-span, 106-foot long bridge, built in 1940, has a wooden deck supported by deteriorated rock-filled piers and abutments. It will be replaced by a 95-foot long, single span, steel beam bridge with concrete abutments and deck, measuring 28 feet from rail to rail, four feet wider than the existing bridge. The new structure, to be built just downstream from the existing bridge, will have railings of corrosion-resistant, unpainted steel designed to weather to a deep brown color and harmonize with the natural setting.

Construction of new bridge approaches will begin about 1,100 feet southeasterly of the bridge and extend 0.625 miles northwesterly to the vicinity of a Maine Department of Transportation maintenance lot. On the southwest end of the bridge, the existing roadway will be fully reconstructed, including grading of a new road-bed, installation of necessary drainage, placement of a gravel base and hot bituminous concrete pavement to create a 20-foot traveled way with four-foot paved shoulders. On the northwestern bridge approach, much of the work will be on new location, not following the existing roadway. A single sweeping curve, beginning at the new bridge, crossing the existing roadway near the entrance to Azisobos Dam and joining the existing highway near the end of the project area will eliminate several sharp corners on the existing approach and increase safety.

Guard rail on the new approaches will match the railings on the new bridge, weathering to a deep brown to blend into the natural setting.

Exact construction schedules will be determined by MDOT and project contractors after the contract has been awarded.

REMEMBER ME?

"Remember Me? I'm your Flag. Some folks call me Old Glory, others call me the Stars and Stripes, or . . . The Flag. But, whatever they call me, I am Your Flag. And, as I proudly state, the Flag of the United States of America."

"Something has been bothering me lately, Mr. Editor, and I was wondering if I might talk it over with you and all of PHSA can listen in? It's about You and Me and All The Rest of Americans."

"I remember some time ago, I think it was the 4th of July, when people lined the streets. When your father saw me coming along, waving in the breeze, he took off his hat and held it against his heart. Even though you were young, you realized that I was very important. I was so very proud that day. If I sound conceited, well, I have a right to. I represent the greatest country in the world. . . The United States of America. More than one aggressive nation has tried to haul me down, only to feel the fury of this freedom loving country. Many of your loved ones had to fight to defend me. A lot of blood has been shed, but I'm still the same old Flag."

"The last time I proudly waved down the street, I noticed a difference. A lot of things have changed. I saw youngsters running and shouting as I passed by. People selling hot dogs and beer while the National Anthem was being played. They don't seem to care who I am. One man took off his hat when I came by. He looked around, didn't see anyone else with theirs off. . . so he quickly put it back on again."

"When I think of all the places I have been. . . Yorktown, Gettysburg, Normandy, Guadalcanal, Iwo Jima, Korea and Viet Nam; I wonder what's happened? I'm still the same old flag. I proudly marched across the plains with the Pioneers, with the Mormon Battalion. I fly above your Capitol. . . how can I be expected to fly high

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In the Lewiston Daily Sun of June 30, 1981, there is an inspiring story of a 53 year old Auburn man, who, because of a series of all-too-common family difficulties, never learned to read or write. His life has been spent operating his own farm, as well as supervising work crews at the Maine Correctional Center. Despite, functioning successfully, he always felt the fear of employers and others discovering his illiteracy, and wanted to learn to read and write. This year he was able to participate in an adult reading program sponsored at the correctional center by the University of Southern Maine, and is now on the way to achieving his goal.

The important thing that accompanies this story is that he is one of an estimated 84,000 people in Maine who are unable to read and write adequately. Some of our friends and neighbors in S. A. D. #44 share this problem, and it is good to know, that through the efforts of our Adult Basic Education program, we have some success stories as heartening as that of the Auburn man. However, for every adult who does seek help in reading and writing, there are many who are unaware of the programs available to them or who are too discouraged or embarrassed to participate. I would like to ask you who can read this letter to pass the word to those who can't. It is never too late to learn. Our local Adult and Community Education program will be starting up again in September with individual tutoring, small group classes, and individualized learning opportunities. For further information, just give me a call at home this summer, or at registration time in the fall.

Sincerely,
Cathy Newell
Director of Adult and Community Education and proud if there is no thought, love, or respect for me? Whatever happened to patriotism? Has everyone forgotten what I stand for. Have you forgotten all the battlefields where man fought and died to keep this nation free. When you salute me, you salute them. You salute the spirit of this American nation."

"Well it will not be long before I come down your street again. When you see me, stand straight and proud. Place your hand over your heart. Do this, because I represent you! You will see me wave back, which is my salute to you!"

Sincerely and with love,

"Your Flag"

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST
Dear Doris, Bill and Rebecca,
We're so glad to get your letters, to hear your family is healthy, happy and on the way to greater happiness, we can tell. But first, our old hound dog — Gramp's friend, had to be put to sleep, it's real sad — Gramps misses him. Time will heal — thank goodness we find comfort in reading the Bible, large print of course. Fact is, we're in John 15 and a verse stands out — number 16, "You did not choose me, (that's Jesus) but I chose you", so you see Doris — just live your own good life as you "whistle while you work", no need to worry about getting "religious" — there's too much of that now. You're in good company with Bob and Jane — even as your hubby Bill and dear little Rebecca go to Sunday School, things will happen — no one is going to push you, it'll come by itself, Bill's on his way as we see the change in his life — we know because it happened to us, tho we waited almost too long to believe the Bible.

As for "finding" the Lord — we didn't. He was there all the time — only our backs were to Him — as Gramp says "oh boy, the day we turned to Him". Can't keep him quiet, says he will reactivate his ham radio license and get on the air! Don't know if I feel sorry for the "hams" or not — if he gets too rambunctious maybe the FCC will take away his license. He's changed alright, not the same fellow I married 40 years ago!

Glad you're getting some rain to fill your wells and streams — we're ok and understand to expect a bumper wheat crop this year, hope so, hope your garden grows real good. Gramp says he is going to plant different seeds, "the seeds of God's Word", no holding him back — going full tilt!

Yes, the late — we're just beginning a new life, wish we knew earlier that "He is a rewarder of those that diligently seek Him."

Must close now, say hello to Bob and Jane, give Rebecca a kiss for us — and for Bozo the Beagle, give him a pat from Gramp.

Mrs. Ralph Kimball, Corres.

Tom Herder, foster son of Mrs. Marian Rich, has returned home after spending two weeks at his camp here. He has been coming here for about 35 years. It was not such a pleasant visit this year as he was ill with bronchitis, spending a good deal of time at the Bethel Area Health Center—but says he'll be back.

Reid Warren and son spent the week end at Georgetown for "clammimg" and swimming in the ocean.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pouliot and daughter, Gail, arrived Friday night to spend their vacation with her parents at the Poisson cottage.

Recent callers of the Jesse Doyens were Weston Flint and Mrs. Winona Verrill of South Paris;

Mrs. Gladys Barker of Rumford; Mrs. Viola Austin of Mexico; Mrs. Connie Hindman and Mark.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pepin and Samantha of South Portland spent the week end with the Jimmy Kimballs.

Timmie Lapham is spending this week with Darren Morse in Locke Mills.

About 30 Parsons family members gathered at the home of Jack and Eleanor Parsons Sunday for a family reunion. A beautiful day, visiting and refreshments were enjoyed. George Parsons has gone to Harrison to visit his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Kilgore.

Mrs. Donna Lapham and children, Mrs. Buzze Lapham and Tim attended a personal shower for a friend at the home of Mrs. Bonnie Van Durme, in Norway, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Salway, Kasst and Brandon, enjoyed a picnic at Snow Auger Falls Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith, Stephanie and Shawn, were recent callers. Shawn spent the night Monday and went with the Salways to Lewiston on Tuesday.

Several local ladies attended a workshop at the home of Irene Anderson Monday evening.

Mrs. Jennie Perkins is staying at her home here now. Her grandson and wife, the Paul Tanguays, are with her this week.

Upon discovering a coon eating from the cats dish in her kitchen and getting rid of the unwelcome visitor, Mrs. Connie Hindman has permanently closed the cats' trap door.

Mrs. Ethel Bean and children of Oldfield visited with me Sunday afternoon.

Bears and moose have been seen crossing Rte. 5 between here and Bethel recently.

Mrs. Barbara Jackson of North Easton, Mass., spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Ernestine Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Trafford Foster and family of Pittsfield, Mass., are occupying Emily Saunders' cottage.

SEN. WILLIAM COHEN From Washington

Last year, the Senate endorsed a bill, which I cosponsored to enable the Department of Defense and the Veterans Administration to share medical facilities. Unfortunately, no action was taken in the House on the legislation and it died with the adjournment of the 96th Congress.

The proposal was revived this year when Senator Charles Percy of Illinois introduced an identical bill in the Senate and the House Veterans Affairs Committee reported a nearly identical bill to the House of Representatives.

If enacted, this bill, which I have again cosponsored, would allow treatment of veterans at military hospitals and referral of military patients to veteran facilities. For example, if a veteran in Aroostook County is physically or financially unable to make the six-hour trip to the Veterans Center at Togus, he or she could be treated at the Loring Air Force hospital in nearby Limestone.

Similarly, Air Force patients who are unable to obtain needed treatment at Loring could be transferred to Togus, instead of to another military hospital a greater distance from the northern Maine base.

Called the Federal Interagency Medical Resources Sharing and Coordination Act of 1981, this bill could save millions of dollars and improve health services to veterans and military personnel. The Veterans Administration, with 171 hospitals, and the Defense Department, with 129, will spend more than $10 billion in 1981. If certain restrictive laws and regulations were removed, these facilities could coordinate and share their resources, with significant savings in federal medical care expenses.

The Medical Resources Sharing Bill would foster cooperation between military and veteran medical facilities by:

— removing all restrictions on what type of services can be shared among agencies, and which

BETHEL NATIVE ACCEPTS POSITION WITH UTICA, N. Y. BASEBALL TEAM

Allan Walker, a Bethel native now residing in Utica N. Y., has recently been appointed acting general manager of the Utica Blue Sox baseball team and assumed that position prior to the opening of the season in early June.

In an interview with the sports editor of a Utica, N. Y., newspaper, Allan stated that he has always had a great interest in sports, having played and coached while in school and also while serving with the U. S. Air Force.

In explaining his strategy for success in his first season as a minor league professional, he said his first concern would be fitting his team to their home ballpark. Basically, this means taking advantage of the Blue Sox's home field short right field fence (approx. 280 feet) by using a lot of left-handed hitters and pitchers. Other areas of major concern to the new acting general manager include getting the team on a solid financial basis for the 1981 season.

Allan is a graduate of Gould Academy and SUNY Tech. in Utica, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walker of Bethel.

beneficiaries can be treated.

— creating incentives at the hospital director level for greater interagency cooperation — establishing a legislative policy, for the first time, to encourage and enable government planning and coordination in the delivery of federal direct health care.

In addition to reducing costs and improving health care, this legislation would minimize duplication and underuse of medical resources. The responsibility of a federal agency to provide medical care would not be changed, but its authority to use other facilities would be expanded.

Sharing resources in order to save money is consistent with the policies of the Reagan Administration and I am optimistic about the future of the Medical Resources Sharing Bill.

The Week in Washington

by Sen. George J. Mitchell

Social Security Minimum Benefit
On June 23, the Senate took the first step in dismantling the Social Security system.

On a party-line vote, the Senate voted to eliminate, as of August 1, the minimum Social Security benefit payable to current retirees.

This benefit provides $122 per month. It was designed as a minimum floor under the retirement income of low-income workers, people whose work histories were interrupted—for instance, women who have taken time out of the labor force to care for children—and people whose jobs were covered under Social Security only in more recent times, such as farm workers.

Three million retired Americans receive this $122 monthly benefit today. Half of them are over 70 years of age. Half a million of them are over 80. And 80,000 of them are now over 90 years of age. This means that these people who retired 20 years ago, in 1961, when salaries and private pensions were far lower than they are today—and when public pensions, such as school teachers' pensions, were much lower—will be asked to take a cut in their income immediately.

I regard this as unconscionable. Not only does it impose a serious financial loss for the majority of these retirees, who have no other way of making up the money, it also represents a clear breach of faith with the American people.

Our Social Security system depends on the willingness of today's workers to pay the taxes which sustain the system. They will only do so if they can be assured that when their turn to retire comes, they can count on the benefits that the government has promised. To break faith with the current recipients in this abrupt manner merely underscores the widespread public concern that Social Security benefits are good only as long as the particular Congress or the particular Administration in office is willing to permit; it creates grounds for the fear that when a Congress or a President has other priorities, the benefits of the program and the stability of the program can be sacrificed at whim.

The Administration proposes that cutting the minimum benefit is necessary to the larger goal of controlling federal spending and achieving a balanced budget. However, it is important to note that there are heavy costs involved in implementing this cut. Secretary Schweiker of the Department of Health and Human Services has estimated that recalculating the benefit for current recipients will require 10,500 workyears in 1981-82, at a cost in excess of $225 million. This additional work effort will cut into whatever savings is associated with this proposal. It is also questionable that Health and Human Services could accomplish this task without being given a larger budget allocation.

The minimum benefit is not a luxury that ought to be curtailed in this time of budgetary constraints. It represents a floor under the income of our country's most needy citizens—the elderly living on fixed incomes.

It has been claimed that these people have the option of going on public welfare. It is tragic to tell a 75 year old widow, or an 80 year old man that she or he has become a pauper and must apply for public assistance. They are the very people most reluctant to accept welfare benefits. And they have felt, with justice, that the benefits paid under the system represent a return on a tax they contributed to.

The action of the Senate ripped a huge hole in the social safety net. I hope the House of Representatives rejects this harsh, unfair and unnecessary provision.

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

July, the first real month of summer! We pause for the energy and haste of spring.

Lakes and rivers glow in beauty after the gauzy mist of dawn.

It reminds me of honey for it is fragrant with clover speed, and sweet-sweet milkweed makes you wonder what perfume has been careless.

Grass heads ripen and the hot air shimmers. Bee balm appears to tempt butterflies, bees and humming birds. It is especially spectacular and rich in spice even though disheveled. I call it the scarlet tanager of summer flowers.

Queen Anne's lace is the white cloud in frothy fur in July. Who would leave out the jewel weed with its orange-yellow spangles, speckled with brown red. Everywhere are daisies, orange splashed with black-eyed Susans.

So much more I saw as I walked an old dirt road. I recalled the dirt road on which I lived when I was a child. Dirt roads had annual cycles and reflected to us each season what earth was doing.

Spring time brought mud time, when the earth almost lost its identity. The mud oozed and one would sink into the melting earth. Rains chose to overflow culverts and cut across leaving small gulches and mud holes. Our wagons went sloshing sometimes to the hub of the wheels, as the horse tested its skill against the elements. Gradually the earth swallowed the moisture and the road acquired its equilibrium. Grass was added and all was well again.

During summer ditches were cleaned, roads scraped to ease the wash-board, and pot-holes were filled.

The earth was warm to bare feet and dusty with passing vehicles. A sprinkle brought the smell of moist earth to mix with the other scents in the air.

In fall the weather turned cold, stiffened the earth and froze. Later came the snow; sometimes only to melt again. By December the snow pack kept the roads white most of the winter. Horses were used to plow them. I remember as many as six on a single breaker but the underlying whiteness remained intact until warm weather again melted it.

Whatever the inconveniences were, I am glad to have lived on, and known a dirt road for it meant summer days of freedom and reminds me of what earth itself was capable of doing.

On Tuesday Sylvia Luxton, Ernest and Ina Mundt, Bethel, had dinner with us.

Doris Hayes and I joined other teachers at Doris Slatery's, West Paris, for dinner on Friday.

Frank and Dot Curtis called one afternoon and were greeted in the driveway by a pheasant. Our other-

Sunday and what a lovely day—makes one glad to be alive and old Go Shoes went. A part of the time they could hang on the hook this week but the last few days they were out for an airing. Let's see, of course, they took in Pomonas at Alder River Grange at East Bethel Tuesday night. We had a good supper and it seemed good to go to Alder River once more. On Friday just a quick trip to town and Saturday night was C.W.A. Night at Bear River Grange and today a trip to East Andover. So you see they do go places. We have been getting showers along so the gardens are getting a good start but the weeds are way ahead of the crops. Why can't the crops grow by leaps and bounds like the weeds' and grass do?

Mrs. Barbara Yates was in Sanford, Friday, to visit her daughter, Darnita, and her first grand baby, a pretty little miss.

Peggy Blake went to the ball game at Locke Mills Wednesday night and today, Sunday, attended the fiddlers jamboree. I guess you would call it at Stark, N. H., between two and three thousand were said to be there.

Mrs. Bessie Frank of North Waldo visited Eva and Joe Yates and Peggy Blake Friday P. M.

Bear River Grange met Saturday night. This being C.W.A. night there were 38 present. Visiting members filled the chairs. Thanks to all who came to help out. The supper was delicious and enough left over to feed another 48. The next meeting will be election of officers, July 11, preceded as usual with a pot luck supper. The program Saturday night was especially nice with lots of music.

Eva and Joe Yates visited the Bernard Hutchins on Sunday, after we caught up with them.

Have a good week. Be careful over the 4th, and I will tell you next week what the Go-Shoes have been up to.

Happy Anniversary to my friends at Bryant Pond, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway.

Our good wishes go out to our Grangers in the hospital, Earl Hutchinson and Mrs. Edna Howes. You are both missed.

Magalloway & WILSON'S MILLS— Alice Harvey, Corres. —

Nutrition Day Camp was held at Wilson's Mills Town Hall last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Maude Harrington and Sandra Perkins were the Nutrition Aides. Helpers were Anne Bragg, and Donna Glover.

The Wednesday Ladies met at the Town Hall. They are working on projects for their annual Grange Fair to be held in September.

The Aziscoos Grange has purchased a new refrigerator for the kitchen in Wilson's Mills Hall. Frank and Millie Johnson were at their camp all last week and also visited with Isabelle Bryant.

Clifford Glover returned home on Friday after spending a week at the University of Maine in Orono as a delegate to Boys State.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Violette of East Millinocket spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cameron at Big Buck Camps.

A birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. Sylvia Mercier, on Sunday, for her sister, Mrs. Karen Clohosey. She received many gifts and a beautiful cake was made by Sylvia. Games were played and a nice lunch was served. The other three sisters attending were Mrs. Lorraine Holman, Mrs. Marie Cooper and Mrs. Alice Harvey.

Larry Bragg is ill with the chicken pox.

Phyllis Littlehale and Bertha West were in Berlin, shopping on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bennett and son, Steven, and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Sweat and son Nathan, spent the week end at the Bennett camp.

Mrs. Dorothy Bennett and daughter Wendy Sweat and Nathan were in Berlin and Colebrook Sunday.

Helen Hart and Bertha West were guests of Glen and Eleanor White for supper Sunday night. They then took us for a ride into Black Brook Cove to see the new boat landing. We were looking for moose along the way, but did not see one until we got this side of the dam nearly to Warren Bennett's turn, when a yearling bull moose crossed the road right in front of us. If we had been going fast we would have hit him. His antlers were about a foot long. A beautiful animal. He was very dark.

We are still having a lot of rain and there seems to be a good hay crop this year.

Michelle, and Jeff Barton. We called on Flo and Warren Cairns Friday evening.

WESTERN MAINE BOARD OF REALTORS SPONSORS SCHOLARSHIPS

In a civic-minded spirit to encourage academic excellence in local-area young people, Thomas A. Kennison, President of the Western Maine Board of Realtors, has announced the names of three students, who have been awarded $100 scholarships this year from the Western Maine Board. The following youths are the recipients of these scholarships: Lisa Kennagh from Oxford Hills High School will attend Andover Institute in Portland this fall, studying business administration. Bruce Clements, Telstar Regional High School, will continue his education at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, New York, where he plans to study computer science. Mark DeVoe from Lake Region High School will be pursuing his education at St. Joseph's College, North Windham, where he will study business administration and accounting.

The Western Maine Board of Realtors is ever aware of the importance of encouraging well-qualified and well-educated young men and women to pursue careers in real estate, as well as other business-related fields of endeavor. One of the primary priorities of the Western Maine Board is to raise and uphold the highest standards of professional competence in the real estate industry.

The Western Maine Board voted unanimously at its May meeting to adopt the continuing practice of sponsoring and granting scholarships on an annual basis to students who have achieved a high standard of academic performance and who plan to pursue their education after high school.

The Western Maine Board of Realtors represents 32 real estate agencies and five affiliate businesses in the greater Western Maine region.
